LOWER RATES FOR PARCEL SERVICE

Bill Introduced in Congress by Iowa Member Will be Hailed by Farmers.

INCREASE SALARY PRESIDENT

Plan to Allow Widow of Soldier to be Buried in Grave of Husband in National Cemetery.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13 .-- A bill which will attract much attention throughout the rural districts of the country, has been introduced by Representative Conner, of Iowa. It provides that a postal rate of five cents per pound or fraction thereof, and three cents for each additional pound, be charged on merchandise mailed at distributing offices on free delivery routes for patrons on the route for which the at which the package mailed is the distributing point. The bill is in accord with a recommendation of Fourth Postmaster-General Bristow, who has seen the need of such a rate in the rural districts. The present rate is prohibitive. He wants the low rate in order to accommodate patrons who wish to order a pound of coffee or of sugar or tobacco from the neighborhood store, to be sent out by the rural carrier. A package of this weight would cost sixteen cents. It is pointed out that cost sixteen cents. It is pointed out that the new rate would bring in an income to the government, for at present there is absolutely no business done of the kind proposed by the bill. There would not be a penny of additional cost to-the government in thus carrying packages from the cross roads stores, the trade of the local merchants would be increased, and the farmers would be benefited. The local dealers have been complaining that the rural routes have caused farmers to stay away from the postofice to ers to stay away from the postoffice to fallen off, while the mall-order busines of big dealers in the large cities has largely increased. It is thought there is little doubt of the enactment of the Bury Widows With Soldiers.

Senator Daniel will introduce a resolu-tion in a few days providing that the claim of William H. Howard and Oliver D. Lewis, both of Accomac county, for the selzure of their sloop by the United States government during the war be referred to the court of claims. The Senator introduced a bill at the last session providing for the payment of the sum of $5,500 for the selzure of the sloop. It is asserted that the aloop was selzed in Carter's Creek in May or June, 1862, by the United States cruiser Anacostla, and was used for patrol purposes during the remainder of the war. The claimants assert their loyalty to the government during the war, which makes it likely that they are residents of Chincoteague island, off the coast of Accomac county. There were only two votes cast on Chincoteague in favor of the adoption Representative Brownlow, of the Third Tennessee district, has introduced a bill providing that the wife of a soldier may be burled in the grave of her husband in a national cemetery. The law has for years provided that a man who is serving in the army at the time of his death in the army at the time of his death, who may have been discharged, or who or who may have been discharged, or who has retired in the case of an officer, may be buried in Arlington. Many old sol-dlers have indicated their desire for a law allowing their widows to be buried there also, and the bill is in response to the general wish of the veterans.

Increase Salary of President. Senator Stewart, of Nevada, has in-troduced a bill which provides that the salary of the President of the United salary of the President of the United States shall be increased to $100,000 a year; the salary of the Vice-President to $20,000 a year; the salary of the President of the Senate, when there is no Vice-President, to the same amount, the Speaker of the House to $2,000, and the salary of a senator and a representative to $10,000 a year. The bill provides that the increases shall go into effect on the 4th of March, 1909.

Although Congress has time and again rofused to pass mensures which would look like the granting of pensions for civil service, a bill has been introduced, pro-viding for the payment of the amount of his father's salary for one year to of his father's salary for one year to Walter French, son of the late Walter H. Brench, file clerk of the House. In addition, the bill provides that the sum of $250 be appropriated for the pay-ment of the funeral expenses of the late Several of the members of the clerk. Several of the members of the House thing this looks too much a civil pension to justify their support, but the presage of the bill would not violate precedent. The salary of the late Mr. French was $2.750 per annum, and he drew it for man's years.

Senator Daniel left this afternoon for Hielmond to attend the annual banquet of the Richmond Howitzers. Assentialing of the Richmond Howitzers Association, He expects to return to Washington toniorrow, as there are several matters now pending which demand his attention and Governor Montague was here last night, and went out to Fairfax county this morning to attend a meeting in the interest of good roads.

Fire of Questions.

As Mr. Palmer detailed the various amounts paid by Judge Swayne for board and necessary expenses he was subjected to a fire of questions by several members. A question by Mr. Adams (Pennsylvania), if it was the custom of the other judges to accept the maximum of 10 a day for expenses, roused Mr. Palmer, who answered with an emphatic "no." adding that if it was the custom it would be no evidence in this case. "We are," he no evidence in this case. "We are," he said with emphasis, "trying the case of Judge Charles Swayne, and not all the other judges of the United States," Replying to Mr. Lacy (Icwa), Mr. Palmer said the committee did not look into the question of whether or not the rate of $10 a day was a fixed allowance, not thinking it relevant.

'The charge against Judge Swayne of

In order that it might be considered as a part of the record in the cage, and taken into account in making up the decision of the House, Mr. Clayton (Dem-ocrat, Alabama) quoted from a lucis.on of the Court of Claims regarding wints may be regarded as proper expenses of a judge.

After concluding his resume of the evia judge.

After concluding his resume of the evidence, Mr. Palmer said that if Judge Swayne had done well he ought to be vindicated, and sent out with the commendation, "Well done, good and faithful servant." If Judge Swayne had done lil, he ought to be sent to trial, "where his excuses and apologies may or may not receive consideration." If the House was of online that Judge Swayne's consideration.

not receive consideration." If the House was of opinion that Judge Swayne's conduct had been commendable, "let him go Scott free," but he added, amid hapressive silence, "in my Judgment it will be a sorry day for the republic when such behavior is commended by the representatives of the people."

The courts, he declared, are the refuge of the weak, defenseless and oppressed, and upon their integrity and purity depends the preservation of life, liberty and property. The fact that there had been no impeachment of a judge for more man seventy years was sufficient evidence of the efficiency, integrity and honor of the courts. Mr. Palmer closed by saying "that they may be kept pure and freafrom all reproach is my prayer and my hope, and for that reason I shall vote to impeach the Hon. Charles Swayne."

Without distinction as to party Mr. Palmer was loudly applauded as he took his seat.

The judicial acts of Judge Swayne were next taken up by Mr. Gillett, who justified them on the ground that Judge Swayne not only had the legal right to act as he did in the several cases complained of, but also had jurisdiction so to do. While he admitted, in reply to a question by Mr. Palmer, that traveling over the county of Judge Swayne in a private car of the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West Rallroad, then in the hands of a receiver appointed [by Judge Swayne, was a thing that ought not perhaps to have been done, it did not constitute an offense of that enormity involving that turpitude that should cause his impeachment. No harm nor injury, he asserted, was done, nor was it shown that it was intended for any corrupt purposes.

The subject of the amounts charged by Judge Swayne and sworn to as having been expended by him for reasonable expenses, was, said Mr. Gillett, a matter penses, was, said Mr. Glilett, a matter requiring consideration, and unless explained away and excused by some circumstancs, was a serious accusation. If the $10 a day, he said, was collected by Judge Swayne with wrongful intent, fully believing and knowing he had no lawful right to the same, its collection should not be excused. But, he argued, if it was collected by Judge Swayne in the honest belief that he was allowed a fixed sum of $10 a day regardless of the actual amount of his expenses, he should be excused.

Mr. Mann (Illinois) provoked laughter by calling attention to the fact that Mr Gillett had made a report in the case one way and a speech the other, and he tried to secure a categorical answer as

"Then," retorted Mr. Mann, "I shall be compelled to vote after the gentleman."

duickly replied Mr. Gillett, "you may vote consequently."

This response was greeted with applause from a number sitting around him.
Vigorously urging the adoption of the resolution of impeachment, Mr. Henry

He was sure that the House, if it was satisfied from the testimony that you get wayne was an unjust and unworthy man, would not hesitate to red that the formal charges are made against him, "and he be arraigned at the bar of the Senate and there tried." Mr. Lamar (Florida), who filed the original charges against Judge Swayne, closed the discussion by denouncing the Judge as tyrannical and corrupt. He congratulated the people of Florida and of the whole country that there was at least one specification upon which all were unanimous, and that was that Judge Swayne "had knocked the Federal government out of money that ought to be in the Federal treasury."

Mr. Palmer moved the previous question on the resolution with an amendment, providing for Judge Swayne's impeachment of "high crimes and misdemanors." The original resolution specied only "high misdemeanor."

and a number of city officers and memter bers of the Board of Aldermen and Council.

AMF, Carter R. Bishop, in whose honoring the bridge was named, removed the barriers at each end of the rondway with a large hammer, whereupon the structure was declared open to the public.

Mayor Jones and the other members of the party congratulated Mr. Bishop upon the successful completion of so important an adjunct to the dilversion schome.

This new traffic bridge extends across the Appomattox River from the foot of Second Street to a point on the Chesterfield county road, just beyond the proposed route for the new channel of the river, and will practically dispense with the necessity for further use of the old Pocahontas Bridge, thereby materially shortening the route from Chesterfield into Petersburg. The bridge is a timber trestle, 800 feet long and twenty-two feet wide. It was built by Latta and Armstrong, of Philadelphia.

It is generally reported here, that the Rev. Corbin Braxton Bryan, formerly of St. John's Episcopal Church, in Hampton, Va., has accepted a call to Graze Church, in this city, and will take charge on January 15th.
